Introduction:

Accountants are the most trusted advisors in the average business owner's world. Usually the CEO won't make a decision until they confer with their accountant (CFO or whatever position). When a client engages an accountant to do a particular task and the accountant undertakes to do the task, the client trusts that the accountant is qualified and insured to do the work. Practically 'legal' and the 'accounts' or 'finance' go together side by side.

Keeping in view the above, National CPD Committee of ICMA Pakistan is organizing an one day interactive workshop on "Understanding of Laws By Corporate Leaders":
